

Client-Server Architecture: Fullstack Applications

The purpose of this lecture is to be a "closure" of the back-end part of the curriculum.

It should pave the way to FullStack applications, reinforcing that back-end and front-end are two SEPARATE processes that doesn't share memory nor any resources and only communicate through http.

